Dear Prof. Valkanov,

We are pleased to confirm that the Advisory Board of the OECD International Network on Financial Education (INFE) has reviewed and accepted your application for UE Varna to become an affiliate member of the OECD/INFE. Affiliate member status is reserved for non-governmental, not-for-profit organisations, academia, industry associations, or foundations, with an interest in financial literacy and education.

As such, affiliate members have the following rights:

- They are automatically invited to attend OECD financial education global events.
- They are consulted systematically and in priority when a financial education document is issued by the OECD or the OECD/INFE for public consultation.
- They may also be invited to attend specific dedicated sessions of the OECD/INFE Technical Committee meetings as per determined by the Advisory Board. Affiliates are not necessarily all invited to the same OECD/INFE Technical Committee meeting sessions.
- At the Advisory Board's discretion, they can be invited to participate, on an ad hoc basis, in the activities of a Working Group of the OECD/INFE. However, they have no vote in the OECD/INFE Technical Committee.

We remain available for any question you may have in relation to the OECD/INFE and affiliate membership.

We are looking forward to your involvement in the OECD/INFE as an affiliate member.

Yours sincerely,

Flore-Anne Messy
Executive Secretary of the OECD/INFE
Head of the Consumer Finance, Insurance and Pensions Division
